

PROCLAMATION

- WHEREAS, the Colorado Stormwater Council supports a statewide education approach to improving quality; and
- WHEREAS, all precipitation induced runoff from natural and urban settings is known as “Stormwater”; and
- WHEREAS, the citizens of Colorado desire clean rivers, lakes and streams; and
- WHEREAS, the citizens of Colorado recognize that stormwater must not be contaminated because it enters our waterways, untreated; and
- WHEREAS, the citizens of Colorado wish to provide a legacy of good environmental stewardship to our children and their children.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Kathleen M. Novak, Mayor of the City of Northglenn, Colorado, do hereby proclaim the week of April 19th through 25th, 2009 as

Stormwater Quality Awareness Week

and urge all residents of the City of Northglenn to celebrate Stormwater Quality Awareness Week and support efforts to protect our rivers, lakes and streams for all the reasons stated above and to be proactive in all actions to protect stormwater quality at home, work, and school.

DATED, at Northglenn, Colorado, this 9th day of April 2009.

KATHLEEN M. NOVAK
Mayor

