Civic activities:

None yet

Meetings attended:

I have never attended in person but I have watched a few local board meetings on our GovAccess TV channel.

Plans/Ordinances:

Only what I have read online concerning Northglenn.

Traits:

I am well spoken, have a few brains and can listen well as needed.

I am the AOIC of 25 - Denver Navy Special Warfare drilling reservist personnel located in four states including Alaska. My current cross-assignment is with Task Group-17 which is a reserve unit under Reserve SEAL Team Seventeen in San Diego. I have been the Senior Adviser to the Commanding Officer of this unit which includes another 34 personnel.

There is always something that needs to be dealt with when you have such a diverse and distant group of American Service men and Women. Problems occur as part of life and have to be resolved in an expeditious manner using tact, positional power, helpfulness, directness, experience and wisdom in both written and verbal communications. These skills are called upon day and night - 24/7 in order to fulfill the mission of deploying reserve personnel to support or fight and win our Nation's Wars.

I am sure I will have much to learn but my goal is to be a useful and integral part of the Planning Commission to help our community. If given the opportunity, I will serve with diligence in accordance with my commitment to service while working towards equitable resolution for the good of Northglenn and it's current and future residents.

Interest:

I have been looking for something to get more involved with in my community and actually saw the writeup in the Northglenn Newspaper. I did not realize that there were any vacancies and that you could apply to be on a Board or Commission.

I grew up in the country and never really had a city to be involved with. I believe this will be a great opportunity to learn about my community and help with our future expansion and progress needs.
